OLLYER'S COMMENT SPORT of KINGS

Sounds like a "Chisca Baba"-Wot? All of which leads to the prediction that Old Man Vandusen will Pagan Pan is the seftest thing of the meeting. The word went out on the Rialto early this morning to "take any old price." Now when the wise birds lisp at a 'away, you know the answer you be of the boozer and don't stop until the numbers are hung up.

2-year-old that has held his speed quite so well. Westide and Peko for what is left. Tem Saunders will, I am told, forget to but with snug handling he may last. Harlock is the sleeper in the race. In his order I fancy them. Balance Wheel is the one dug up by the clockers. Lamp their chatter. "Here is one to take to the cleaners. Will win just as easily as did Alex Jr. or St. Donard. Adonis is a nicely turned trick and may hold the Virginian. The latter is a trifle better than he nas shown."

The fifth is a bit tougher. Paradise is slated to come to life. while Brig o' War is fully as good. Clintonville won his last start and Pern Handley will be better suited if the going turns heavy. The jockeys will play a very prominent part. I suggest you string with try, Yowell, Scagram entry. Lyke's mount.

Quito is sent along by the clockers as the best bet of the day. They evidently know something, because I wouldn't feed the hound. Nuff sed
